Our claim to quality

A surface for all situations

The surface of our laminate floors is robust and can stand up to a lot.

It provides very good protection against scratches, heat and the effects of light and bacteria. The floor retains its good looks with little maintenance.

A high-quality HDF baseboard

The core of our laminate floors. The baseboard consists of over 90% wood and is highly compressed.

It has an additional protection against swelling, which protects against moisture in combination with the impermeable surface and the stabilising layer.

The baseboard compensates unevenness in the sub-floor and makes installation much easier.

Its good thermal conductivity means it has the perfect properties for use over underfloor heating systems.

SmartConnect click connection

Our smart click connection ensures installation is quick, easy and secure. It turns every DIY enthusiast into a professional.

The powerful locking system puts an end to unwanted gapping.

Smart technology for a lasting beautiful floor – guaranteed.

We take our environmental responsibility seriously

Made in Germany

Our laminate floors are manufactured in Germany with the guaranteed quality and safety you expect from the 'Made in Germany' label.

We protect jobs in the region and apply short transport routes in order to save resources.

Sustainability

Our laminate floors are PEFC-certified. We support the environmental and social aspects of a fully traceable and recognised sustainable forestry industry.

A considerable proportion of our baseboards is manufactured from trees, which can no longer be used for furniture or hardwood flooring; due to storm damage, for example.

A contribution to the climate – one cubic metre of wood stores one tonne of CO2. By choosing a laminate floor, you are making an active contribution to climate protection, because our floor is mostly made of wood and stores CO2.

Healthy living

Accolades like the Blue Angel and the Eco Certificate confirm that our laminate floors are low-emission products. We are better than the statutory standards for zero-emission living environments.

Our laminate floors are free from chlorine and plasticisers.

Classic Line - classic and timeless

F11 | Old wood mix beige*

Varied planks, strip floors and multi strip

In the Classic Line we group classic floor designs in one collection. The classic plank floor's strength is its clearly expressed, timeless design.

Strip floors are characterised by their versatility and lively appearance. The boards comprise two or three staves next to each other. Because the strip floor has no grooves, the floor seems infinite.

Multi strip floors gain their effect from the lively and unique appearance created by the variety of colours of the staves within one plank. It has a dynamic, virtuoso effect and looks handmade.

Long planks

Visual expanse and a great feeling of spaciousness.

If you appreciate a wide open and generous living space, this can be enhanced by installing long planks. Spaces appear wider and even more generous. A wonderful opportunity to achieve even more with the floor.

Our 2 metre long planks come in two different widths. The 192 mm wide format appears slim and elegant, while the 242 mm wide plank conveys a sense of generosity and presence.

Our planks emphasize their full size by means of the 4 sided grooves. It is this emphasis and contrast that gives the planks their overall impact. With a thickness of 10 mm, the plank meets the highest quality standards, offers ease of installation and walking comfort over the entire floor.

The appropriate frame

The planks are framed by the grooves which emphasise their individuality in the overall floor design. The grooves can be U shaped or V shaped. Depending on their colour, they can either have a very prominent or a restrained effect.

Two types of grooves

The 4-sided and centre U-groove bring out the best in large-scale natural stone decors.

The V-groove frames wood designs along the long side or on all sides – with a contrasting or subtle effect.

This feels good

Of course we should like what we see, but that is not everything. It is only when seeing and feeling are in accord with each other that we achieve our goal: The perfect combination in perfect harmony. The ter Hürne laminate range features 10 different surface structures which make the floor come alive and emphasise the effect of the decor in various ways. When a surface is referred to as „register embossed“, the structure matches the texture as depicted by the decor. The description of the surface structures consists of the tactile surface and visible degree of gloss.
