Naturally healthy wood – through and through

Naturholz Parquet

Strength lies in the family

Togetherness stems from our roots

For over 65 years the name ter Hürne has stood for values that are deeply rooted together – in our company's history, in our family and in our number one material: Wood. It is more than just a material. Wood for us is a feeling, a way of life, the material of the future.

No other material combines so much that is good: natural beauty, sensuous texture, sustainable origin and timeless aesthetics. Wood is alive – and that is exactly what inspires us. It is our origin and it remains our benchmark, against which we measure all our products – yesterday, today and tomorrow.

We are a family-owned company based in Münsterland – down-to-earth, genuine and passionate about what we do. Craftsmanship runs in our veins and has defined every detail of our work for decades. Passion and fun inspire the spaces we create, which feel both natural and alive – full of warmth, character and life.

We hope you enjoy Naturholz Parquet.

NATURALLY HEALTHY WOOD –
THROUGH AND THROUGH

Living in harmony with nature

Products that we come into contact with on a daily basis have a profound impact on our homes. A floor should provide a sense of security and create an environment in which the whole family feels at home. For people who like a natural lifestyle, real wood parquet flooring is therefore a particularly appealing choice: It naturally regulates the air humidity and its ingredients contribute to a healthy indoor climate. The certified ter Hürne quality ensures that even the processed parquet remains as naturally healthy as the wood itself – a floor that makes you feel truly connected to nature.

Each tree makes history

Did you know just how many characteristics there are in a tree's growth? Each tree is unique – its knot pattern, the grain pattern, the colour variation, wood rays, grain structure, heartwood and sapwood all show where it grew and under which conditions it developed. At ter Hürne we carefully process these natural, original features enhancing their visual design appeal.

Oak

The most popular wood species - because oak impresses with its natural structure: The distinctive annual rings, the straight to slightly wavy grain and the visible wood rays give the wood real depth.

Beech

Beech is a popular parquet wood thanks to its light, warm, slightly reddish appearance and the fine, even grain structure. It is also hard and resistant, properties that are good for the robustness of the floor.

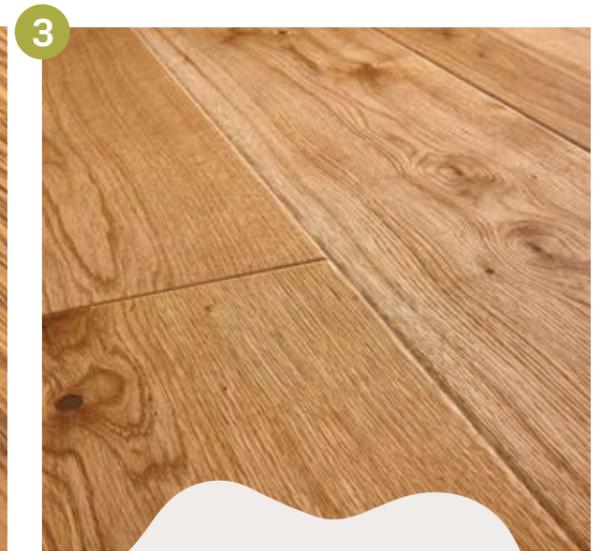

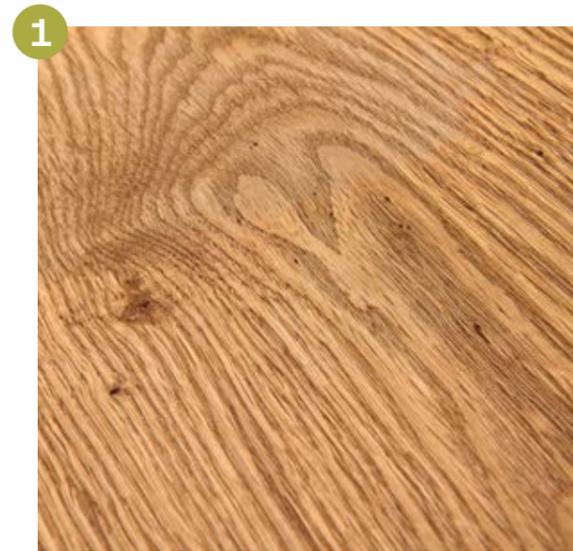

Ash

Movement and liveliness are the marks of a floor made from ash. Its elongated, dynamic grain pattern gives it a characteristic vitality and the light colour palette ranging from beige to warm browns looks fresh and inviting.

Walnut

The noble walnut captivates you with its warm colour palette from soft light brown to powerful chocolate brown and immediately creates depth and warmth in the room. The light grain patterns, fine swirls and occasional knots make each piece rather special.

- 1 Light brushing with hand-scraping
- 2 Medium hard brushing with split enhancement
- 3 Brushing with round bevels

TARGETED PREPARATION

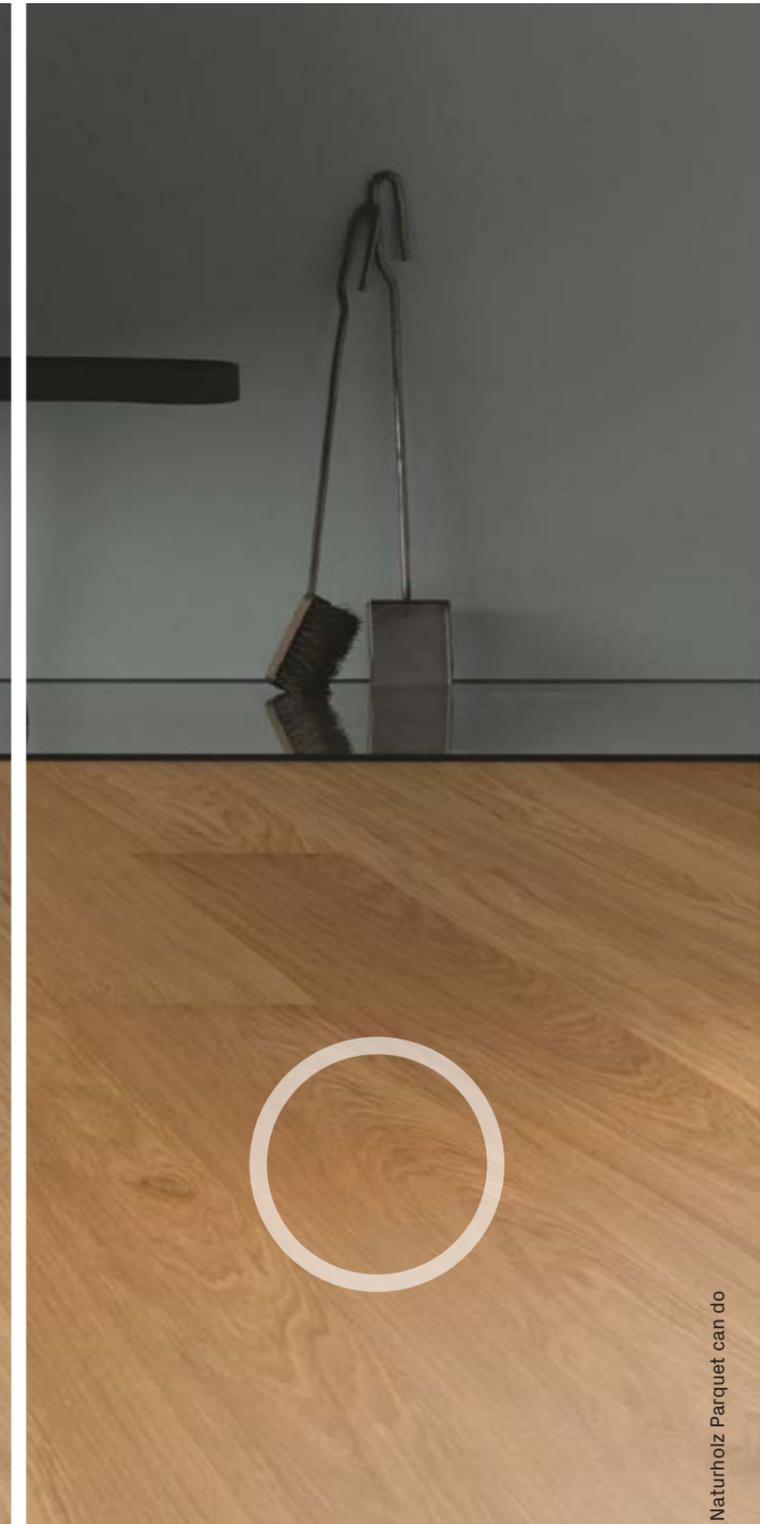

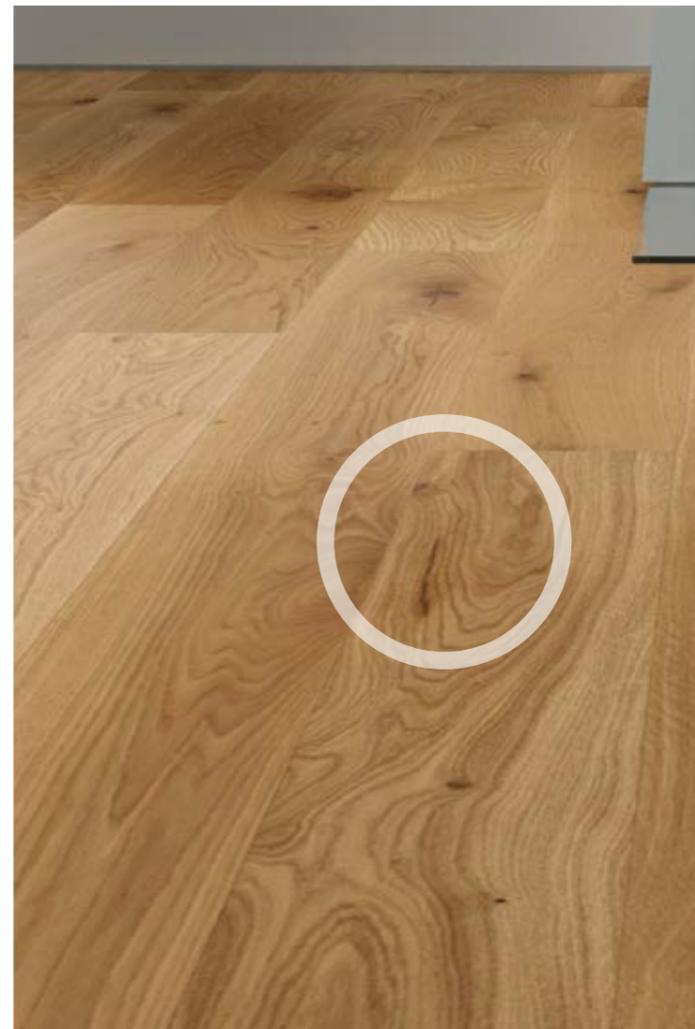

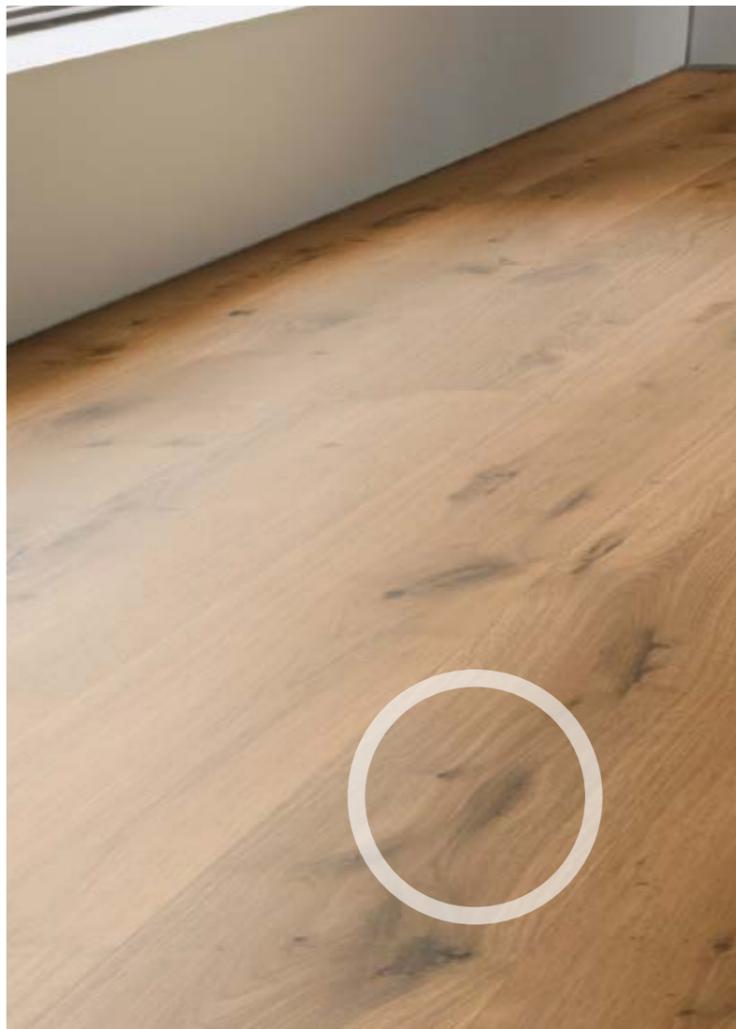

Deep down in the wood

Smooth, rounded transitions from soft to hard wood, precisely defined textural depths and smoothed edges for a consistent surface structure are part of our wood expertise. This brings out the natural quality of real wood in the most impressive way. Right from the wood preparation stage, we tailor the type of brushing and sanding process precisely to the desired design – every detail is evidence of our expertise and passion for wood.

The grading – a question of design

The grading has a significant influence on the floor design because every selection determines exactly which wood characteristics are to be visible and how frequently they occur. This creates differentiated structures that characterise the appearance of the floor – in four different gradings. The grading specifically controls the effect of grain, knots, colour variation and wood structure – just the way you like it.

impulsive expressive

This particularly vibrant grading makes a clear statement with everything wood has to offer: large knots, lively colour palette and visible sapwood – a genuinely rustic focal point in the room.

The lively appearance is typical of this grading. The clearly defined knots and the prominent sapwood create a highly contrasting dynamic impression. This grading is ideal for people who prize distinctive wood features.

balanced

The essence of this grading is calm, harmonious and balanced. The even grain pattern together with subtle knots convey a gentle, peaceful appearance, making rooms appear friendly and open.

even

This particularly harmonious grading has only minimal knot content and no sapwood at all. Its calm character is beautifully accentuated by a uniform, gentle play of colours.

Unbeatable inner values

Accessory Programme

THE EVOLUTION

The high-tech lacquer surface

Made for people with these priorities:

- 1 Very high practical value and user comfort in daily life
- 2 The desire for a long-lasting, silk matt look with a soft haptic
- 3 Real wood as the preferred material for a healthy living
- 4 High level of quality in use combined with undemanding maintenance

NATURE PROTEC EVO

The durability

The visibility of micro-scratching is further reduced and the abrasion resistance increased, and even scratches are less visible.

The deep protection

The deep bed of the pores and the grain structures is optimally protected. This prevents dirt from adhering to the wood fibres – a major advantage for maintenance.

The perception of depth

The surface shows no glossy effects in the depth – it appears matt and natural from every perspective.

NATURE PROTEC OLIO

The formula

The ter Hürne OLIO oil is based on several natural oils balanced with each other, with sunflower oil and safflower oil constituting the main components. The combination of various different ingredients produces the optimum quality characteristics.

The composition

NatureProtec OLIO surfaces undergo a technologically complex process, consisting of three complementary applications of oil and special drying processes.

The technology

In the so-called reverse roller technique, the Nature Protec OLIO is worked into the surface with soft pressure against the direction of the wood. This distributes the oil homogeneously and precisely deep down.

THE INNOVATION

The innovative natural oil system

Made for people with these priorities:

- 1 High durability in every day use with long-lasting natural radiance
- 2 Feel the emotional experience of nature with wood in your own home
- 3 Experience a healthy environment with breathable surfaces
- 4 Good awareness for care that supports valuable longevity

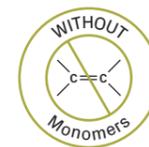

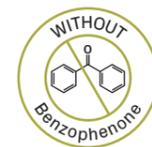

HEALTHY LIVING

The special powers

To hold a ter Hürne parquet plank in your hands is to experience the natural power of wood. Each plank is treated exclusively with healthy ingredients, ensuring a completely healthy living environment in your home. Naturholz Parquet breathes, automatically regulates the air humidity protecting mucuous membranes, prevents mould growth and ensures a pleasant indoor climate. Its natural polyphenols act as a protective shield against bacteria, whilst the hygroscopic properties filter pollutants from the air.

Dust, germs and dirt do not stand a chance, because wood is antistatic and gives them nowhere to live. At the same time the floor stores heat and gently releases it to the body and feet, making rooms feel immediately more comfortable. The surfaces Natur Protec OLIO and EVO are completely free of skin-irritating benzophenone – and the natural oiled OLIO-surface does not contain any monomers. Moreover, they are also saliva and sweat resistant and suitable for children's toys. In short, parquet flooring that adds beauty to rooms and has a noticeable positive effect on health and well-being.

As a company, we stand for all of this and have our products continuously tested and certified.

CONSERVING RESOURCES, MAINTAINING QUALITY

Sustainability you can feel Responsibility starts with every step - with ter Hürne parquet you are literally stepping on carefully selected wood. Wood from sustainably managed forests which has been tested according to strict ecological criteria and processed using natural, pollutant-free ingredients. In this way the quality of the planks is preserved, material is used efficiently and resources conserved. Energy efficient production and recyclability keep the ecological footprint to a minimum.

Our parquet floors are also QNG-Ready and meet the requirements for sustainable construction. They combine tested material quality and resource-saving production with a floor that protects nature and creates a durable, high-quality home – today and for future generations.

ORIGINAL ACCESSORIES

The big advantage

There are so many good reasons to choose a floor from ter Hürne. One of them is that our quality management perfectly matches the accessories to our collections in our own test laboratory.

“Our experience clearly shows that compromising on accessories is expensive in the long run. Maximum quality and durability for flooring always depend on the interaction of the system as a whole: How does a certain adhesive interact with the floor when there are temperature fluctuations? Which underlay material causes material to become fatigued more quickly? We ask ourselves questions like these and others every day in the laboratory and therefore know that choosing a system of proven quality is the best way to save in the long run.”

4 good reasons why you too should rely on ter Hürne system solutions:

- Smart: You get a consistent system for every floor concept, which ensures easy and quick installation.
- Quality: The smart ter Hürne system is a guarantee for a floor with maximum quality and longevity. Because all components are perfectly coordinated with each other.
- Healthy living: We only use materials that promote a healthy home environment and this also applies to the accessories of course.
- Visual appearance: All ter Hürne floors perfectly match our skirting and stair systems. This gives you also a visually appealing, all-round effective flooring concept.
